

Roasted almonds

🕒 20–30 Min

Preparation

- 1 Bring sugar, water, vanilla sugar and spices to the boil in a pan with high sides or in a saucepan. Stir occasionally so that the sugar dissolves completely.
- 2 Add the almonds and mix with sugar mixture so that they are evenly coated all over. After a while, the dull sugar layer comes off and the sugar caramelizes. This process can take up to 8 minutes.

HINT: Attention: Don't let it get too dark, otherwise the caramel will taste bitter.

- 3 Spread the almonds directly onto a prepared piece of baking paper. Allow to cool completely. To prevent the almonds from sticking, brush the baking paper with a bit of oil.

HINT: For unconventional variations of the roasted nuts, experiment with chili, ginger powder or amaretto. Definitely worth a try!
